

ICT Trip

On Thursday the 28th of January we went to Crew Alex football club for a forum about technology.

When we first got there a police officer talked to us about how to stay safe on the internet, and the age rating of the games we play on. We were shown some of the chat room websites that you could go on, and how sometimes people can use bad language and be very offensive just because you can't see them.

After the talk was over we had a break and had a look at some of the stands where there was a competition for a game, a bit like pac man, on scratch where we had to nominate one person from our group to take part. After the break we sat back down and listened to another talk about some of the technology that we might have in the future!

We were even lucky enough to see some pictures! We saw the PS5, a 3D food printer, even a robot postman! The thing I was most excited about was a tiny microchip that will be installed into the "flappy" part of skin, in between your thumb and index finger, which allows you to take a photo whilst in a certain position.

It was after that when we were introduced to another competition, we had to write a slogan about how to stay safe on the internet, our team, along with the slogan, drew a picture corresponding to the slogan, which was "You can't rub a digital tattoo away, so think before you say."

We drew a hand and drew on the hand most of the iconic chatting websites, like Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, Whatsapp, Snapchat etc. We didn't win however, we did come 2nd out of 20 schools!

Finally at the end of the day we had 2 people come in from One Day and did a bit of drama referring on how to stay safe on the internet. I really enjoyed it.

Thursday 28th January 2016

Dear diary,

Today I went to the Crewe Alexander football club stadium for an ICT Road show.

I went with four of my class mates who were Elias, Joel, Grace, Scarlet and two teachers.

The purpose of the road show was to explain about internet safety and how best to stay safe online. There were four presentations in total.

The first presentation was by a local police woman from Cheshire Constabulary. This was all about gaming. She explained to us what the different ages for different games were and why.

The second presentation was about the future. The person who presented in was an ex police detective. He showed us the future in about 0-30 years into the future (ps5, food printer, post man, photo).

The third presentation was by a company called One Day who turn the internet into fun games like a superhero for the good guy who says who he really is and the villain who says nasty things to the superhero.

The last presentation was by a company called Discovery Education they explained who you should talk to if you have a problem on line, such as Child Line (0800 111 111) or a trusted adult or friend.

My favourite presentation was number 2 because it was all about the future.

The key things I learned from the day were :

- Did you know the Internet only weighs the same as one strawberry?
- How hackers hack people
- The person who invented the first computer also created EA sports.
- Interestingly most people on the internet lie about who they actually are.
- That if you tell somebody what your password is or your name or where you live you will let them know more about you (which could be bad!).

Barney and echo Roadshow

On Thursday 28th January, me (Grace), Harry, Scarlett, Joel and Elias went to the Barney and echo roadshow at Crew Alexander f.c. When we walked in, there was workshops telling you what their company does on the internet. Also, one of the workshops was a pacman game, however it was programed with coding! Throughout the day, there was lots of competitions that involved colouring and drawing, there was even a drama activity. It was brilliant! As a treat, ~~we~~ we all got to walk through the Crew Alexander football tunnel and go to the top of the seats! It was amazing! At the end, we got goodie bags and a free ticket to watch Crew Alexander ~~play~~ play football! I had the best time ever!
